Oversight Agency

Department of Toxic Control Substances (DTSC) in cooperation with City of Oakland Fire Department Hazardous Materials Program.

Infill Development Project Description

The development will be a mixed-use development with 67 rental units at market rate (but priced below existing housing costs in the immediate vicinity) and 2990 square feet of commercial space. The project is in the heart of a revitalized commercial district, increasingly being known as a hub or new restaurants and unique retail stores, with a neighborhood feel.

The development project will assist in revitalizing a larger urban area. A new public plaza will be created at the corner of 51st Street and Telegraph Avenue with a water feature that acknowledges Temescal Creek, which drains below the site. An existing greenbelt will be extended to 51st Street through this project development, and deeded over to the City. The project has and will result in 100 jobs during development and construction, and the commercial space will complement the very popular local retail stores along Telegraph Avenue.

Permits

The following permits have been granted, approved, or submitted for the CIVIQ project: Conditional Use permit, Vesting Tentative Parcel Map, Final Map, and Building Permit.

Anticipated Timeline

- Cleanup to Begin: June 2009
- Cleanup to be Completed: June 2009
- Development to Begin: June 2009

Subject:  Proposed project at 5110 Telegraph Avenue

Dear Mr. Smith,

I am writing to indicate my full and unqualified support for the proposed project at 5110 Telegraph in its current form (per the presentation on November 14th at the Temescal Library).

I was greatly impressed by the elegant and thoughtful project presented. I thought the design to be exceptionally sensitive in its response to a site with many faces and considerations, while still managing to gracefully achieve a project that was handsome, coherent and exciting.

I think the neighborhood is exceptionally fortunate in the developer and his choice of architects. Ron Kras has long term and deep familiarity with our neighborhood, and knows what good urban infill projects are all about and has a local development track record that clearly demonstrates that. Rick Williams, as a recent resident, also knows our neighborhood well. He takes neighborhood concerns seriously, and he and his firm consistently produce sensitive designs of the highest design standard.

It was clear from the meeting that the single greatest concern being voiced by some - and I emphasize the word some - members of the community was regarding the issue of the proposed building height. In particular, some neighbors were concerned that the height would create a new precedent encouraging 65' buildings all up and down Telegraph.

I think that the new building at 45th and Telegraph, which at the street line is 4 stories with some 5 story elements, and nearly 6 stories further back, demonstrates both that taller buildings along Telegraph not inappropriate to the wide scale of the street, and, at the same time, that the height of that building is about the limit that the scale of the street can handle.

That said, the scale of the intersection at Telegraph and 51st is very large. Given its importance and its scale, I think it is more than appropriate to have a tall building at that corner, creating a landmark and a presence that announces and identifies that part of Telegraph. I particularly like the lantern-like effect of the elevated corner tower. In the exciting and beneficial impact of the proposed building, its height and scale play an important role. I feel strongly that a shorter building would represent an opportunity missed, not a calamity avoided.

The issues presented at the meeting made it clear to me that an amended Telegraph zoning ordinance, with careful attention issues of height and building element setbacks, should be done as soon as possible so that both the community and future developers know what the design and planning intentions are and where the bars are set. And such a planning vision could include taller buildings at intersections that have neighborhood, civic, and transit village importance.

Thank you.

Subject: About development in Temescal

Dear Jane,

I'm sorry I wasn't present for your initial meeting regarding planning for Telegraph Avenue in Temescal. My understanding is that the big issue has to do with height and bulk of new development, and that Jeff Norman is leading the charge to cap development as low as possible.

I realize that with issues like these, the people who have negative feelings tend to be much more emotional and impassioned that those who are positive on the issue. So I think it's important that I weigh in as one in favor of a more urban, and urbane, approach. I apologize if, in my response below, I "went on" a bit. But:

I think:

1. The proposed development at the old Pussycat Theater site should not be viewed as setting a new standard. The site is atypical. It is at a large, pedestrian-unfriendly intersection of two arterial streets carrying heavy traffic. It is isolated by both 51st Street and Claremont from any other commercial space, except for the Global Video.

2. Telegraph Avenue is a much wider street than either College or Piedmont, and will benefit from development of greater height. College and Piedmont are both much narrower streets, carrying a dramatically lower volume of traffic moving at much lower speeds than Telegraph. Telegraph is much wider, a major arterial street, and the second most important street connection between downtown Oakland and the Berkeley center. A two story street wall is not sufficient to "command" the street; even if infilled, development limited to one and two stories will look "weak". A three-story limit at the sidewalk for Telegraph should be considered the minimum.

3. We need incentives to development for Telegraph that will make new construction more attractive - and profitable - than existing uses. People seem to think that the height the developers are pushing for represents greed, and some huge windfall. They should be reminded that until recently, the economics of Telegraph were such that no development happened at all. For decades, we are entering a period of softening real estate prices, which will increasingly stall all economically marginal projects.

And, above all, if we want to see any of the fast foods go away - an essential component of a better Telegraph - then we need to allow for development that will be profitable enough that the fast food owners will say, "Hey, I'll make more money if my property is developed." Otherwise, we'll be stuck with Fast Food Plastic Architecture, and their big parking lots, for the rest of our lifetimes.

The best way to provide these incentives is to allow the maximum height and bulk of development that will still be in good scale with the width and importance of Telegraph.

4. The new condo building at 49th and Telegraph provides two important lessons:
   a) The building could well serve as a model for planning guidelines regarding maximum height and bulk. 4 stories at the Telegraph, with further stories set back within a 45% setback line starting at the top of the 4th floor, to a maximum of 6 stories inside the block, looks like the appropriate maximum envelope, at least as far as Telegraph frontage goes. I think that, as on that building, elements at the sidewalk plane could extend higher than 4 floors, as long as they are not habitable spaces and not roofed solid, or at least for some percentage of the length of the facade (in other words, trellises, uninclosed freestanding pavilions, railings, parapets, etc).

5110 Telegraph LLC_Civiq_exhibits
I drive by this building constantly, and I've spent a lot of time looking at it and its relationship to the street and the neighborhood. It seems, at the moment, large but not out of place. I think it's size is acceptable, and does, in fact, do some rather nice things for the street and the surroundings.

b) Make the planning guidelines require design review if any habitable part of building exceeds 4 stories - and make sure permit approval is contingent on no changes from the approved design. The condo building at 46th and Telegraph is not, in the end, a very attractive building. I've seen the original renderings for the building on the architect's website, and the building as built is a corrupted version. I suspect that what happened was that the builder took the architect's designs and then freely changed many features for construction.

The result is a building that is, architecturally speaking, messy and unattractive. The same thing happened with Temescal Plaza (Walgreens); the designs shown to the community were very significantly more elegant than what was actually built.

If we want quality design along Telegraph, then it is critical that the buildings live up to the promise of their approved design.

5. The greater the density of appropriate development along Telegraph, the healthier, richer and more vibrant the pedestrian retail environment will be. During the planning for MacBART, one planner emphasized that fact that North Oakland has 4 arterial streets - Broadway, Telegraph, MLK, and San Pablo - that are all relatively close together but run through areas that are mostly low density residential areas - much of it detached single family. His point was that the key reason the commercial along those streets has been so anemic is because there is too much commercial strip serving too small a population.

We can't wave a wand and remove much of this existing failing commercial development; our best strategy is to make it work. The best way to do that is to increase the size of the population these streets serve. Especially when trying to create a pedestrian and neighborhood-serving development of Telegraph, our best friend is greater density.

6. If we are to do our share and help protect our greater Bay Area environment from endless sprawl, then we must find ways to let our cities grow in ways that are healthy, dynamic, and sustainable. Cities lead the way toward a sustainable future for our growing population. We in Temescal can help; a more urban vision for Telegraph will help more. Telegraph can profit from such development. Let's do our part and make it count.

I urge my neighbors not to get all NIMBY and precious about it, the way College Avenue is. Let's not freeze the picture at the lowest common denominator, which could easily stall development indefinitely. We have, on one edge of our neighborhood, an important urban artery that needs lots of new construction to realize its potential, both for us and for Oakland. Let's allow our vision to expand, and so remake Telegraph into a dynamic, rich, and elegantly urbanized connection to our revitalizing downtown.

Dear Roy & Judith Alper,

Sorry I can not attend the City Council hearing on your project, however, I totally support the proposed project for the site. That land has been an eyesore for a long time. Everyday someone brings a great idea like yours to improve our city, somehow a group comes up to oppose it.

Such groups hardly spend their own money on projects that would help the city of Oakland. We have been losing tax dollars to other cities. That trend should stop, and replacing an eyesore with project like yours is a good start.

Hello,

We are owners and residents of the Temescal Neighborhood for almost a decade. We understand there is some opposition to the proposed project at 51st & Telegraph Ave. Although we may not be able to attend the meeting tomorrow, we would like the opportunity to respond.

We feel the project would be a great benefit to Oakland as well as the Temescal neighborhood. The higher density housing is much needed in the area, and the commercial spaces would help the Temescal immensely. We don’t feel the proposed height of the building is inconsistent with the vision of the Temescal neighborhood but would add to the aesthetics of the community. We support the proposed project and hope to see the project break ground soon.

Bill,

thanks for doing a fine job with community outreach for the project, I feel I am in good hands. And it was good to see familiar faces from the time of the charrette again.

I am in support of the project pretty much as designed (after all, it is almost identical to one of the charrette schemes!) with a few "I wish this could be different"..... very briefly: 1) extending pedestrian, public access from Redondo park to Telegraph & 31st should remain a priority & can happen if design is slightly reworked. I do not really understand the issues the owner or condo association might have with insurance coverage if the access, path layout, size of open space, podium and front yard fences (security barriers), lighting, landscaping, etc. are well designed for it's intended function. 2) The project brings to mind that the area - not just project site - is currently not pedestrian/bicycle friendly. For ex. there really is no pedestrian crosswalk on 31st between Telegraph and Broadway. I am not sure what, but at least something ought to be done to improve experience when walking across 31st. Many european city governments would have put in an under or overpass long ago in a case like this.

Finally my suggestion for commercial space: Peet's coffee (certainly someone has thought of that, yes?)

thanks,

Stefan

Hi Bill --

I attended tonight's meeting at the Tenascal Library and although I didn't get a chance to speak, I wanted to voice my support for your project as it is currently designed. As a homeowner in Tenascal for the last five years, I strongly feel that this is the kind of "elegant density" that Jerry Brown has been talking about. Reasonable density along transit corridors like Telegraph — within walking distance of BART stations — is clearly what Oakland and the entire region needs.

The height seems entirely appropriate for the lot and the design handles the height very thoughtfully by scaling back as it approaches Clark St. (If this were ten or twenty stories, obviously I would be concerned, but six stories, especially with the rather ugly Global Video building next door, makes perfect sense.) And I really applaud your emphasis on sustainable design and solar technology. I wish all developments in Oakland exhibited this kind of forethought.

Feel free to use my comments in your communication with the city. Thanks much.

Dear Ms. Klein,

I own property at 5138 Clarke Street. Recently I reviewed information regarding a new mixed use (residential / commercial) development project at 5110 Telegraph Ave and 5107 Clarke St. in the Temescal neighborhood. I would like to express my support for the project.

The proposed 68-unit building plus 3,000 sq ft of commercial space will be a positive addition to the Temescal area. The project will convert a vacant and an underutilized lot at a prime Oakland intersection into productive uses. The landscape and design will be a welcome improvement to the neighborhood. The site is also near a variety of public transit options as well as many commercial services. Telegraph Avenue businesses will benefit from the increased commerce that the 150+ additional residents will bring.

The neighborhood will benefit from this project. I look forward to this addition to Temescal.

I am writing to express my support for the 5110 Telegraph Ave/5107 Clarke St. project in the Temescal neighborhood.

I believe the proposed 67-unit building plus 2,900+ sq ft of commercial space will be a positive addition to the Temescal area. The project will convert two lots, one vacant and one underutilized, at a prime Oakland intersection, into productive uses. Re: CIVIQ, Mixed-use project at 51st & Telegraph

The Sierra Club supports infill, mixed-use, relatively dense development within existing urbanized areas that encourages transit, walking, and bicycling and that minimizes private automobile use.

This project proposed for a vacant lot within a chain link fence and an adjacent surface parking lot would remove blight and add to the vitality of this neighborhood. The scale of the project respects its context with the greatest height at the major intersection of 51st & Telegraph and decreasing its height and massing to reflect the scale of single family residences on Clark Street.

This project meets our Urban Density Guidelines as follows:

1. Encourages transit use: It is located within an existing urbanized area on a major transit corridor, Telegraph Ave., which will have even better transit service with the future implementation of Bus Rapid Transit (BRT.)

2. Appropriate urban density: The project has an overall density of more than 20-30 units per net acre.

3. Pedestrian-oriented design: The project is planned to integrate with existing street patterns, walkways, and bicycle paths, and provides easy connection to services and public transportation. The two small plazas provide community-gathering places and connect to the adjacent FROG Park.

4. Community input: The developer has made good faith efforts to address and, where appropriate, incorporate, neighborhood concerns about the project.

However, the project may fall short of our goal of 20% affordable. We encourage the developer to meet this goal in implementing mortgage financing for low-income homebuyers.

Energy conservation is a foremost concern for the Sierra Club so we land this project’s proposed use of solar panels as an energy source and “green” building practices through use of sustainable and/or recycled materials.

Dear Darin:

I am writing to offer our support for the “Civiq” mixed-use project proposed at 5100-5110 Telegraph Avenue.

The East Bay Workforce Housing Coalition is made up of business and economic development groups committed to increasing the affordability and balanced supply of housing in the East Bay. Our members include the Contra Costa Economic Partnership, Contra Costa Council, Economic Development Alliance for Business (EDAB) and the California Alliance for Jobs. In order to maintain the strength of our East Bay economy, we must be able to continue to offer a wide range of housing options to employees of East Bay companies. This means housing at all levels of size and affordability.

The “Civiq” project will provide 67 units at a density of 72 units to the acre. Given the proximity to both BART and AC Transit lines, we feel that this type of higher density is consistent with the effective use of the surrounding transportation amenities and limited land resources. While we understand the concerns of local residents, this type of density cannot be achieved without a variance to allow for the increased height proposed in the application.

The East Bay Workforce Housing Coalition is committed to the production of housing stock that will meet the needs of all segments of the workforce. This project will provide a mixture of unit sizes ranging from studios to three bedrooms. We are further encouraged by the current projections being provided by the developer that will allow for a portion of the units to be eligible for sub-market rate loans that will help provide housing for a wider range of income levels. We will continue to track this as it is finalized and our continued support will be predicated on the continued commitment to the provision of workforce housing as part of the project.

When possible, the Coalition gives priority to projects that put to more appropriate use underutilized land and provide additional amenities that improve the local area. The project before you reutilizes use two parcels, including one previously an adult movie theatre and the other an employee parking lot for Oakland Children’s Hospital. Further, it will provide for two community plazas, a pedestrian walkway and 2990 sq. ft. of community retail space. We have found that amenities such as these work in the long run to revitalize neighborhoods, increase property values and enhance the quality of life for surrounding residents.

We are pleased to offer our support for this project and are convinced that it will provide a worthwhile enhancement to the adjacent neighborhoods. We commend the developers for their attempts to address issues of affordability, both through creative financing and by design and a mixture of sizes of units.

Sincerely,

Ethan Veneklasen

RE: Proposed Civiq Project

Dear Mr. Ranelletti:

The Board of Directors of the Temescal / Telegraph Community Association (Business Improvement District) considered the proposed Civiq project at 51st Street and Telegraph Ave. at its regularly scheduled board meeting on November 28. The Board voted 10-1 to support the project.

The proposed project is squarely in the middle of our district. Despite the fact that the site is located at one of the busiest intersections in Oakland, it has been a vacant lot for 7 years; before that it was the site of the infamous Pussycat Theater. The proposed project will fill a long-standing need in our District to bring more life and activity to Telegraph Avenue on the north side of 51st Street and will add many new homeowners to our neighborhood within easy walking distance of many of our shops.

There was enthusiastic support for the attention to architectural and landscape detail the developers are bringing to the project, and much appreciation for the public plazas the project will create. Placing the parking underground, while costly, will allow most of the ground level units in the development to be entered directly from the street; this will encourage a more pedestrian-friendly environment that will benefit the entire neighborhood.

Our District is concerned about parking. As our neighborhood resurgence continues, parking has become more of an issue at certain times during the day. The Board does not feel the proposed Civiq project is the cause of our parking situation, but the Board used our consideration of the Civiq project to commit ourselves to work with property owners in the neighborhood and the City in develop more parking facilities that can serve our District.

We urge the commission to approve a Conditional Use Permit for the Civiq project when it comes before you for consideration.

Sincerely,

Rick Raffanti

RE: CIVIQ / 5110 Telegraph Avenue Application for CALReUSE Remediation Loan

To Whom it May Concern,

I am writing to confirm the support of the City of Oakland for the CIVIQ development project at 5110 Telegraph Avenue in Oakland. Civiq is a proposed 67 unit mixed use development project, with 3,000 sf of retail, in a mixed use infill area of the Temescal neighborhood in North Oakland. Civiq will be located in the Neighborhood Center general plan designation, which encourages the development of both commercial and medium density residential uses along a major transit corridor in North Oakland. On March 21, 2006 the City of Oakland approved the Conditional Use Permit, Design Review entitlements as well as the adopted the CEQA findings for the project. The project will revitalize and important gateway into the North Oakland Area and in particular the Temescal neighborhood, and provide new market rate housing for this growing commercial mixed use neighborhood. We support the development of the project as approved by the Oakland City Planning Commission and City Council.

If you have any questions in regard to the entitlements at this site, please contact me.

Sincerely,

Eric Angstadt
Interim Deputy Director, Community & Economic Development Agency
