3. Bond Volume Cap Recycling presentation

As California hits its private activity volume cap for the first time in decades, the State is looking at options to make more efficient use of the approximately $4 billion in federal bond cap that is authorized annually for California. Perhaps the most innovative solution is bond recycling, as authorized by Congress as part of the 2008 Housing and Economic Recovery Act, but only used by a handful of States. Bond recycling allows volume cap previously used by a multifamily project where the loan has been prepaid to be used again for future multifamily financing, with the recycled capacity not counting against the State's volume cap.

Presented by Richard Froehlich, Chief Operating Officer, Executive Vice President and General Counsel of the New York City Housing Development Corporation (NYC HDC). Mr. Froehlich has played a key part in writing the legislative language in 2008 that authorized bond recycling, and later implementing the first recycling program in the nation at NYC HDC. As the foremost expert on this topic, Mr. Froehlich's insights will be particularly valuable as California examines the possibility of its own recycling program.
